ANOTHER Expreſs is juſt arriv'd from the Sieur Nepluef, our Reſident at Conſtantinople, with Advice that his Excellency has at length obtain'd a ſatisfactory Anſwer from the Ottoman Porte, with regard to the late Engagement between the Ruſſians and Tartars, which it was apprehended would be attended with ill Conſequences; upon which Occaſion the Prime Vizier aſſur'd him, that after mature Examination of the whole Affair, his Sublime Highneſs remain'd firm in his Reſolution to obſerve all his Engagements with her Czarian Majeſty, and was ſo ſenſible of the many Inſults committed by ſome Herds of Tartars on the Territories of her Ruſſian Imperial Majeſty, that he had ſent Orders to the principal Cham of the Crim-Tartars to puniſh the Cham that headed the ſaid Troops, &c. The ſame Expreſs brings Word, that the Fleet of Sultana's and Gallies, under the Command of Gianon Coggia, the Turkiſh High Admiral did not ſail from Conſtantinople with the ſingle View of viſiting the Malteſe Veſſels of Religion, but alſo to obſerve narrowly, and gain the beſt Intelligence they can of the Deſign of the Spaniſh Fleet; and that the Admiral has Orders to embark 20,000 Men at Scio, and other Places of the Archipelago: That the Loſs of Babylon is but too true, and ſeveral Perſons of Diſtinction and Janizaries are under Diſgrace at Conſtantinople for having named it in publick; meanwhile the Ottoman Porte draws all the Troops they can together in Perſia, to oblige the Perſian Army to a Battle and recover the Place. Great Levies are making throughout the Provinces of her Imperial Majeſty, and the Officers of ſeveral Regiments have received the Arrears due to them, to enable them to raiſe Recruits for their reſpective Corps, which were found defective in the laſt Review made by the Empreſs's Order.

Conſtantinople, July 6. Laſt Week the Grand Signor aſſembled the Divan, to take into Conſideration the Propoſals made on the Part of the Perſian General, by Way of Preliminaries to a Peace; it was reſolv'd to reject them, and ſend Orders to our General to march out with his Army as ſoon as reinforc'd by the expected Succours, and give the Perſians Battle. Tis believed the Perſian General will do all he can to decline it, partly becauſe his Army is much inferior to ours in Number, having ſuffer'd very much by Sickneſs and an extreme Want of Proviſions. The Officer which commands the 15000 Janizaries ſent hence to the Relief of our Army, has written to Court, that he ſhall reach the Seraskier's Camp the 9th Inſtant. Several Letters agree, that the 40000 Tartars which received Orders to march into Georgia, have enter'd the Province, plunder'd and ſet fire to ſeveral Villages in the Neighbourhood of Kom and Sultance. Part of the Algerine Squadron which eſcaped the laſt Shipwreck, is found wholly unfit for Service, ſo that the Commodore is gone back for Africa without them.

Amſterdam, Sept. 15. Tis adviſed from Berlin, that the Marqueſs de la Chetardi, received an Expreſs which left Warſaw, the 3d, with an Account of M. Radziewski's being choſen Marſhal of the Dyet of Election on the 2d: The ſaid Expreſs proceeded in all Haſte for Paris. The Maſter of a Veſſel from St. Ubes, lately arrived in the Texel, reports, that he ſail'd above two Days with the French Squadron, and ſeparated from them the 6th at Night, after they had paſs'd by Calais. He adds that the Squadron, being join'd in the Channel by a Frigate, bore away for the Sound with a favourable Wind and tis ſuppoſed enter'd the Baltick on the 12th Inſtant. Some Letters from Conſtantinople mention a deciſive Battle between the Turks and Perſians, wherein the latter were obliged to quit the Field.

Paris, Sept. 16. They write from Strasbourg that the Marſhal Duke of Berwick has review'd all the Troops in Alſace, found them in good Order, and very eager to paſs the Rhine; and that all the Officers have Orders to keep their

Poſts,

Posts, and be ready to march at Command. The last Express from Poland is said to have brought Advice of the Election of a Marshal. We learn from Leghorn, that the Governor of the Milaneze has caused the Fortresses of Massa, Aversa, and Aula, to be abandon'd, having sent Orders to the 3000 Germans there garrison'd, to go into Mantua, and reinforce the Garrisons in that Dutchy.

London, September 10. Last Friday a Holland Smock, given by Capt. Litter, Adjutant of the first Regiment of Foot-Guards, was run for in the House Park adjoining to Hampton-Court Palace, by five young Women, his Majesty being present, and won by a young Woman in the Neighbourhood; the King was well pleased with the Race, and order'd two Guineas to her that won it.

On Saturday their Majesties and the Royal Family took the Diversion of hunting, when a Stag was turn'd out on St. George's Hill on the Surrey Side, which afforded good Diversion for near two Hours, and was kill'd on Red-Hill.

AS nothing certain can be gather'd of the present Election in Poland, it may not be improper to give a short sketch of that of King Augustus, from the Abbot de Parthenay's History. So fine a Subject, says he, merits so much the more a just and sincere Writer, as it has been disfigured by M. de Voltaire, who studying to embellish his Work, was not much concern'd whether his Descriptions were true. Witness that of Altena, and the Siege of Riga.-------

After the Death of Sobieski, the Affairs of Poland, were greatly embarrass'd. The Turks and Tartars ravag'd it; the Czar demanded that the King to be chosen should renounce some of his Titles, and a Civil War under the Name of a Confederacy, broke out in Lithuania. Several Princes intrigued for the Crown, who by the Address of the Minister of France, were set aside in favour of the Prince Conti; then a Party was form'd, supported by the Emperor, for raising to the Throne Frederic Augustus, Elector of Saxony. The General Dyet open'd the 15th of May, 1697; and after some sharp Contests, Card. Radziewski, the Primate, declared the Prince of Conti King, with the Acclamations of more than 80,000 Gentlemen. But Augustus being chose by another Party, enter'd Poland with an Army, and soon brought over many to his Interest. The French Party decreased sensibly by the Absence of the Prince of Conti, and the Delay of the Remittances and Troops he promis'd the Republick. The Abbot de Polignac and the Primate protested against the Election of Augustus, as illegal, the Proclamation having been made by a Bishop, in prejudice of the Rights of the Primate, and without the Consent of the Republick; the Dyet of Confirmation unanimously confirmed the Prince of Conti; and signed a Confederacy in Defence of their Religion and Liberty. Augustus surmounted all these and other Difficulties. First the Place where the Royal Ornaments were kept, being possess'd by his Adversaries, he broke it open. The Second Difficulty; that by the Laws of Poland, the King must be crown'd by the Arch Bishop of Guesna, Primate of the Kingdom, was provided against by declaring that Archbishopriek vacant. Another Difficulty was, the Law order'd, that the deceas'd King should be buried before the Coronation of his Successor. This they eluded by performing his Obsequies in Representation; after which the Bishop of Cujavia proceeded to the Ceremony of Coronation. This occasioned a Satire, entitul'd, The Arguments of the Acts of the Comedy of Warsaw; Act I. A King without a Diploma. II. A Funeral without a Corpse. III. A Coronation without a Primate. IV. A Dyet without Nuncios. V. Protests without Effect. During these Transactions, the Prince of Conti cast Anchor before Dantzick. Soon after he came to Oliva, and was again proclaimed King, was desired to enter Poland and promised Assistance; but was oblig'd to retire to France after seeing Marienbourg, the only Place he relied on, open its Gate to the Saxons.

A SERMON

Occasioned by the Death of the Rev. Mr. Proctor, Minister of Gissing.

By the Rev. Mr. Moor, Minister of Burston in Norfolk.

1 Tim. vi. 12.

Fight the good Fight of Faith, lay hold on eternal Life, whereunto thou art also called, and hast professed a good Profession before many Witnesses.

BELOVED, We are met together to solemnize the Funeral of Mr. Proctor: His Father's Name was Mr. Thomas Proctor, of the 2d Family; his Brother's Name also was Mr. Tho. Proctor; he lived some Time at Burston-Hall in Norfolk, and was High Constable of Diss Hundred; This Man's Name was Mr Robert Proctor, and his Wife was Mrs. Buxton, late Wife of Mr. Matthew Buxton; she came from Helsdon-Hall, beyond Norwich.

He was a good Husband, and she was a good Housewife, and they two got Money: She brought a thousand Pounds with her for her Portion.

But now, Beloved, I shall make it clear, by demonstrative Arguments,

First, he was a good Man, and that in several Respects: He was a loving Man to his Neighbour, a charitable Man to the Poor, a favourable Man in his Tythes, and a good Landlord to his Tenants; There sits one Mr. Spurgeon can tell what a great Sum of Money he forgave him upon his Death Bed, it was fourscore Pounds. Now, Beloved was not this a good Man, and a Man of God, and his Wife a good Woman? And she came from Helsdon-Hall beyond Norwich. This is the first Argument.

Secondly, To prove this Man to be a good Man, and a Man of God, is this; in the Time of his Sickness, which was long and tedious, he sent for Mr. Cole, Minister of Shimpling, to pray for him: He was not a self-ended Man, to be prayed for himself only; no Beloved, he desired him to pray for all his Relations and Acquaintance; for Mr. Buxton's, Worship, for Mrs. Buxton's Worship,, and for all all Mr. Buxton's Children, againſt it ſhould pleaſe God to ſend him any; and to Mr. Cole's Prayers he devoutly ſaid, Amen, Amen, Amen. Was not this a good Man and a Man of God, think you, and his Wife a good Woman? And ſhe came from Helſdon-Hall, beyond Norwich.

Then he ſent for Mr. Gibbs to pray for him; when he came and prayed for him, for all his Friends and Relations, and Acquaintance; for Mr. Buxton's Worſhip, for Mrs. Buxton's Worſhip, and for all Mr. Buxton's Children, againſt it ſhould pleaſe God to ſend him any: And to Mr. Gibb's Prayers he likewiſe devoutly ſaid, Amen, Amen, Amen. Was not this a good Man, and a Man of God, think you, and his Wife a good Woman? And ſhe came from Helſdon-Hall in Norwich.

Then he ſent for me, and I came and prayed for this good Man Mr. Proctor, for all his Friends, Relations, and Acquaintance; for Mr. Buxton's Worſhip, for Mrs. Buxton's Worſhip, and for all Mr. Buxton's Children againſt it ſhould pleaſe God to ſend him any: And to my Prayers he devoutly ſaid, Amen, Amen, Amen. Was not this a good Man, and a Man of God, think you, and his Wife a good Woman? And ſhe came from Helſdon-Hall beyond Norwich.

Thirdly and laſtly, Beloved, I come to a clear demonſtrative Argument to prove this Man to be a good Man, and a Man of God, and that is this: There was one Thomas Proctor, a very poor Beggar-Boy; he came out of Scotland, over the River Tweed, upon the Back of a Dun Cow; It was not a Black Cow, nor a Brindled Cow, nor a Brown Cow; no, Beloved, it was a Dun Cow; Well, Beloved, this poor Boy came a begging to this good Man's Door, to this Man of God's Door; he did not do as ſome would have done, give him a ſmall Alms, and ſend him away; or chide him, and make him a Paſs, and ſend him to his own Country. No, Beloved, he took him into his Houſe, and bound him an Apprentice to a Gunſmith in Norwich; and after his Time was out, took him home again, and married him to a Kinſwoman of his Wife's, one Mrs. Chriſtian Robertſon here preſent, there ſhe ſits; ſhe was a very good Fortune, and to her this good Man gave a very conſiderable Jointure; By her he had three Daughters; this good Man took home the eldeſt, brought her up to Woman's Eſtate, married her to a very Hon. Gentleman, Mr. Buxton here preſent, here he ſits; gave him a vaſt Portion with her, and the Remainder of his Eſttate he gave his two Daughters. Now was not this a good Man, and a Man, of God, think you, and his Wife a good Woman? And ſhe came from Helſdon-Hall beyond Norwich.

Beloved, you may remember ſome Time ſince I preached at the Funeral of Mrs. Proctor, all which Time I troubled you with many of her tranſcendant Vertues; but your Memories perhaps may fail you, and therefore I ſhall now remind you of one or two of them.

The Firſt is, ſhe was as a good Knitter as any in the County of Norfolk: When her Husband and Family were in Bed and aſleep, ſhe would get a Cuſhion, clap herſelf down by the Fire, and ſit and knit; but Beloved, ſhe was no prodigal Woman, but a ſparing Woman; for to ſpare Candle, ſhe would ſtir up the Coals with her Knitting-Pins, and by that Light ſhe would ſit and knit, and make as good Work as many other Women by Day-Light: Beloved, I have a Pair of Stockings upon my Legs that were knit in the ſame Manner, and they are the beſt Stockings that ever I wore in my Life.

Secondly, She was the beſt Maker of Toaſt in Drink that ever I eat in my Life, and they were brown Toaſts too: For when I uſed to go in a Morning, ſhe would ask me to eat a Toaſt; which I was very willing to do, becauſe ſhe had ſuch an artificial Way of toaſting it, no Ways ſlack, nor burning it; beſides ſhe had ſuch a pretty Way of, grating Nutmeg, of dipping it in the Beer, and ſuch a Piece of rare Cheeſe, that I muſt needs ſay, they were the beſt Toaſts that ever I eat in my Life.

Well, Beloved, the Days are ſhort, and many of you have a great Way to your Habitations, and therefore I haſten to a Concluſion.

I think I have ſufficiently proved this Man to be a good Man, and his Wife a good Woman; but fearing your Memories ſhould fail you, I ſhall repeat the Particulars, viz.

1*ſt*, His Love to his Neighbour.

2*dly*, His Charity to the Poor.

3*dly*, His Favourableneſs in his Tythes.

4*dly*, His Goodneſs to his Tenants.

5*thly*, His Devotion in his Prayer, in ſaying Amen to the Prayers of Mr. Cole, Mr. Gibbs, and myſelf.

But more eſpecially for that tranſcendent Act of Charity in entertaining the poor Begger Boy, in binding him an Apprentice to a Gunſmith, and marrying her to that Hon. Gentleman Mr. Buxton; and giving him a vaſt Portion with her, and giving the Remainder of his Eſtate to his other Daughters. Was not this a good Man, and a Man of God think you, and his Wife a good Woman? And ſhe came from Helſdon-Hall beyond Norwich.

Well, Beloved, he hath done his Work on Earth, courageouſly, valiantly, and manfully; in fighting under the World's Banner of good Husbandry, in getting of Money. He is now gone to fight the good Fight of Faith, to do his Work with God, and to ſing Hallelujahs in Heaven; where we will leave him.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 22.

Yeſterday arrived here Capt. Reeves from London, by whom we have Papers of Octob. 3. from London, with Advices, that Staniſlaus being arrived in Poland, the Primate haſtened the Election, and he was choſen, proclaimed and crowned. Of the Confuſions which are like to follow, we ſhall give a more particular Account in our next. The French have entred Germany with a powerful Army, to ſupport the Election; but the Fear of the Ruſſian Army has already driven the King from his Capital City, as you will ſee by the following Paragraphs Extract of a Letter from Warſaw, dated Sept. 23. N. S.

Upon Advice that the Ruſſian Army made long Marches towards this City, and that ſome of their advanced Guards were actually arrived at Praage, a great Council was held Yeſterday, wherein it was reſolved that the King ſhould leave this City, for the Security of his Perſon againſt any Surprize; In purſuance of this Reſolution, his Majeſty and the Primate ſet out Yeſterday in the Evening for Pruſſia: The Crown Guards followed him this Day; and the Palatine of Maſovia, M. Poniatowski, Prince Czartoriski, and moſt of the other Senators and Perſons of Diſtinction are likewiſe preparing to ſet out and join the King. His Majeſty's Departure ſtruck a general Conſternation here for a while; but the Marquis de Monti, Ambaſſador of France, who is ſtill here, having declared publickly, that the King his Maſter would maintain the King his Father-in-Law upon the Throne with all his Forces, his Majeſty's Friends do not now ſeem much to dread the Conſequences of that Retreat, looking upon it as a prudent and neceſſary Step at this Juncture.

Dantzick, Sept. 26. Our laſt Advices from Warſaw confirm that the King was ſet out for Pruſſia with moſt of the Senators, in order to form an Army, and thereby preſerve a Communication with this Town, which is ſo much the more neceſſary for him, becauſe it is the only Place by which his Majeſty can receive Foreign Succours. We have a flying Report, that Prince is arrived at Marienburg; but as we have received no Expreſs, the Truth of that Report is very much doubted. The King's Friends are the more impatient for the Arrival of the French Spuadron, becauſe they ſay it has ſome Regular Troops on board, and will fetch more from the Coaſt of Sweden: They flatter themſelves, that with their Aſſiſtance, the Poliſh Troops, and the Nobility, who are ordered to take Arms, the King will not only make Head againſt the Ruſſian Troops, but even oblige them to quit the Kingdom; provided, howeve[illegible] at no other Powers concern themſelves with the Affairs of Poland, or ſend Troeps thither to ſupport thoſe of Muſcovy.
